MEMORANDUM FOR: Career Management Officer,
Technical Services Division

SUBJECT: Home Leave Credit for Overseas Duty of Military Detail

1. You have requested our opinion as to whether a military detail who first served overseas with the Agency in August 1960 may include, for the purposes both of accrual of and eligibility for home leave, any of the time served as such detail when he converts to staff employee status and remains abroad.

2. The Agency's basic authority to grant home leave to its employees stationed abroad derives from the Annual and Sick Leave Act of 1951 as amended by the Overseas Differentials and Allowances Act of 1960. With the exception of employees entering the Armed Services during a tour of duty abroad, military personnel do not accrue leave under these provisions of law. They could not expect, therefore, to count time detailed to the Agency toward the 24 months continuous service abroad required before an employee becomes eligible for home leave.

3. In the instant case the employee will not be eligible for home leave until December of 1964.
